DISCUSSION

In reviewing, the Administrator said everything is tracking along like it is supposed to. Other Revenue, received $11,000 extra for leases.

The Administrator reviewed the impacts the State FY20 proposed budget cuts will have on AEB:

- School bond reimbursement $650,000, which is 8.42% of AEB budget.
- Harbor bond debt reimbursement, $381,000, which is 4.9% of AEB budget.
- Local required education contribution, currently $517,840 with cap $1.8M. FY19 we gave $900,000 and an additional $40,000 in scholarships and travel. This will be reduced by approximately 20%.
- Residents in all AEB communities, except King Cove, receive Power Cost Equalization (PCE). PCE funding will be cut.
- Shared Fisheries Business Tax is approximately $2M, Landing Tax, approximately $5,000; Extraterritorial Shared Fisheries Business Tax, approximately $100,000. Approximately, 28% of our budget proposed to be cut.

All proposed cuts combined is approximately 40% of the AEB annual operating budget.

Mayor Osterback said in talking to legislatures and experts in Juneau, it may be early fall before they come up with an approved budget. AEB is putting together a worse-case scenario budget, a middle-of-the-road budget and a status quo budget. We are preparing the best we can. Staff will be available to travel to Juneau to talk with representatives.

RESOLUTIONS

Moved to Consent Agenda.

OLD BUSINESS None

NEW BUSINESS

Quarter Four, AEB Strategic Plan:

The Administrator said before you is quarter four of Strategic Plan, a brief overview of what is accomplished. Mayor Osterback said there are so many things going on in the AEB and the strategic plan in place has the main projects. Nothing but good having the Strategic Plan in place.

Gulf of Alaska Rationalization:

The Natural Resource Director said his 3-page memo in the packet was reviewed at the workshop. There is a push for rationalization in the Bering Sea and stakeholders asking for Gulf of Alaska rationalization. The State has no position at this time, but are looking for stakeholder input. A fishermen meeting was held. There is not full agreement, but there is agreement to have a control date set and on Bering Sea rationalization, sideboard limits on fishing in the Western Gulf. He hopes to put together a ground fish working group. There was a comment on having more quota in state water cod fishery. If rationalization moves forward, the Gulf needs to be treated differently than the Bering Sea.

Paul recapped discussion, saying that there is a consensus in sideboards on Bering Sea vessels, to protect the Gulf as much as possible; a control date on Gulf of Alaska; ground fish work group formed, and onshore protection.

Mayor Osterback said short term priority is the control in sideboards; a ground fish work group, getting all issues ironed out, doing what is best for fishermen and processors that have a stake in the fishery; and bringing as much as we can to be processed onshore.

Tom, for the record, said, as a small boat fisherman, he supports more federal quota moved into the state cod fishery.

Ingrid said, rationalization isn't a foregone conclusion, and hopes we continue the discussion more and also supports the efforts to get fishermen together.

Mayor Osterback said we are not pushing to have rationalization. Communities and fishermen need to meet in a working group, to determine what is best. He feels it is good to be prepared for rationalization, rather than scrambling at the last minute. After discussions, he supports having control dates in place, in case rationalization happens, to make sure everyone won't be rolling in from everywhere to qualify.

Warren said he remembers the past Gulf rationalization discussions. He has reservations on rationalization and with the cod decline might not be anything to rationalize. He feels rationalization should not be rushed into.

Ernie Weiss said Council not trying to push through on the Gulf side, but there are stakeholders that want rationalization, so supports discussions occurring.

Mayor Osterback said we're not trying to make decisions as an Assembly, but trying to set up the vehicle to have discussions with fishermen. Everyone supports sideboards and a control date set, but besides putting a working group together, we are not supporting either way.

Kelp Mariculture:

Assistant Resource Director, Charlotte Levy, said there is a memo in the packet, which was discussed at the workshop, essentially providing options for the Assembly to consider and to help determine how AEB would like to move forward with the kelp project.

Option One: Develop a community-driven cooperative business model, and pursue two NOAA Sea Grant funding opportunities.

Option Two: Collaborate with Trident Seafoods on a limited basis, assisting them with siting and permitting for a Trident farm, in exchange for some benefits.

Levy said she feels there is a unanimous support from the Assembly to keep moving forward with the project.

Mayor Osterback said there was a good discussion at the workshop, so we will continue to move forward on the kelp mariculture project.
